

Explore drawing through multiple media

Saturday May 28, 9:00 – 12:00 (3 hr)

Instructor: Lorraine Thompson

We will use various drawing materials, charcoal, pastels, pencils etc. to create art works that will portray still life works from photographs. This three hour work shop will allow you to find your favorite drawing medium.

Born in London England Lorraine emigrated to Canada with her parents as a child. She earned her Art's and Science diploma from H.B. Beal in London Ontario after majoring in fine art for three years. After graduation she attended the Fine Art program at Fanshawe College During these years she studied under well known artist Herb Ariss, Burt Kloezaman and Ray Robinson. Lorraine's work has been seen in over thirty exhibitions in galleries across Ontario. She has also been an art educator for the past fifteen years which includes, Lambton College, Fanshawe College, Continuing education, Library programs, numerous workshops within schools and her personal studio. Currently she is working with "Learning Through The Arts" programs and has a home based gallery named "Bliss". She works in many different types of media, including found objects, all paints and drawing materials, clay as well as collage.

Artist Statement:

My artwork is an extension of how I perceive the images that surround me. These images include the beauty of nature, my dreams, emotional state of mind and my somewhat bizarre sense of humor. I work in many different types of media, including found objects, all paints and drawing materials including clay and collage.

Expressing ourselves visually is instinctive, first scribbling, then drawing – communicating before we learn to print or write. In all the years that I have been an instructor I have not known a child who is not have the curiosity to draw, paint or sculpt. Learning any subject should be an exciting and interesting process. 'Everyone is born an artist.'
